American Airlines Date Change FAQs (2026 Guide)

1. How much does American charge for changing dates?

American Airlines generally does not charge a change fee for many Main Cabin and above tickets for travel within the U.S. and Canada, but you may still need to pay any fare difference if your new flight is more expensive. For same-day confirmed changes, a fee of about $75 USD may apply for most passengers, while Medallion members (Gold, Platinum, Diamond) often get this fee waived.

2. How do I change the date on an American flight?

You can change your American flight date by: - Logging into "My Trips" on the American website - Using the Fly American app - Or contacting American customer service

After selecting your new date, American will show any fare difference before confirming your updated itinerary.

3. What is the American 45-minute rule?

The "45-minute rule" usually refers to American's baggage cutoff time, not ticket changes. For most domestic flights, checked bags must be dropped off at least 45 minutes before departure so they can be processed and loaded on time. If you miss this cutoff, your bag may not be accepted for that flight.

4. How do I request an American same-day change?

You can request a same-day change if you want to switch flights within 24 hours of departure: - Go to the Fly American app or website during check-in - Choose Same-Day Confirmed Change or standby options - Select an available earlier or later flight (same day only)

Same-day confirmed changes may cost about $75, while standby options are usually free but depend on seat availability.
